Project 7

NORTH OAKS

REMODELER: Ispiri

GOALS: Built in the mid-1990s, this home was in need of updating, personalization, and modern technology. Among the project's standout spaces: the master bath. "It was all white and had a really stark, cold feeling," says Jason Fabio of Ispiri. "It felt like a hospital."

RESULTS: Ispiri modernized and warmed up the bathroom through a variety of inviting materials and finishes. Travertine adorns the flooring, the tub surround, and the tops of his-and-hers vanities. Lending a luxurious ambiance to the space, the custom-made cherry cabinetry features intricately detailed molding, carvings, and fluting. The cherry wood also appears on the oval tub, following a curve that enhances the arch above. Lighting also plays an important role in this remodel. In lieu of recessed can lights, the homeowners opted for overhead mirror vanity lights as well as side sconces on the "hers" station. The leaf design on these sconces repeats in the lighting fixture over the tub.

Wow Factor:

Featuring a diamond pattern and inset Swarovski crystals, the leaded glass windows at the tub offer privacy—and a distinct design element.
